ESID SUMMER SCHOOL 2022 EVENT SUMMARY

This year's much-awaited ESID Summer School, headed by Despina Moshous (ESID Education Working Party Chair) and coordinated by Clara Franco (ESID Junior Working Party Chair), was held after a two-year hiatus due to the global pandemic and despite uncertainty with international travel restrictions. Twenty-eight enthusiastic participants from all over the world came together near Athens this May!

During the event, the highly qualified Faculty members, including: Fabio Candotti, Eleonora Gambineri, Manfred Höning, Emma C Morris, Despina Moshous, Peter Olbrich, Pere Soler Palacín, and Kathleen E. Sullivan, shared their knowledge in PID. A range of interactive sessions in which participants presented complex, challenging study cases were held, opening dynamic discussions. Insights from various countries and protocols led to a diversity of views and possibilities among all participants and Faculty members.

The field of PID is constantly evolving, and it is thus a challenge to include all relevant topics. The programme was therefore driven by case discussions presented by the students, with insights on disease groups led by Faculty. The format experienced in the last edition was improved in terms of the structure and the amount of time allocated to the interactive sessions: we can confidently say this has been re-confirmed with great success!

ESID SUMMER SCHOOL 2022

LOCAL PID COMMUNITY

This year, the local PID community was engaged as part of the exciting programme. A combined session of local speakers and Summer School Faculty was held at the IASO hospital in the North of Athens.

The session was live-streamed to the entire PID community in Greece, and 180 people joined online.

Due to the initiative's success, and the possibility of expanding knowledge and education exchange, it was suggested to integrate the local session into the Summer School future programmes.

ESID SUMMER SCHOOL 2022 EVENT SUMMARY

Networking activities included evening dinners and a picnic on the beach. These opportunities provided an important time for students to connect with other students and Faculty to foster future collaborations.

It is abundantly clear from our time in Athens that encouraging the students to build a network with other young professionals in the field of PID is one of the best investments in the future of the field. This is the core reason why ESID Summer School will continue to be held on an annual basis!

ESID SUMMER SCHOOL 2022 EVALUATION

This year, a digital evaluation form was disseminated each evening and an overall evaluation form was sent once the event finished.

"The ESID summer school was such an enriching experience. The opportunity to learn from the very top professionals in the field and being able to meet, in-person, colleagues from different parts of the world, while sharing best practices and cultural exchange was what I valued the most."

Agustin Bernacchia, Argentina

"A LIFETIME EXPERIENCE, I was very excited to attend ESID summer school but it exceeded all my expectations. Everything was perfectly set; the venue choice, case presentations, lectures and group discussions. The scientific content had an overview of the most recent advances and updates in IEI disorders.

Great chance for networking and experience exchange between attendees and the outstanding faculty mentors who gave all the time and efforts to bring it in a remarkable and professional manner. The whole group was full of life, passion and enthusiasm.

The social activities were beyond all the fun. The whole event was mind and soul refreshing, I went back to my home country with more excitement and enthusiasm to advance in my career.

I have an extended family now. Thank you ESID for giving the junior members this distinguished genuine opportunity."

Sohilla Lotfy, Cairo University, Egypt

"I feel very lucky that I had the opportunity to participate in this great event. Not only I had the chance to acquire new knowledge from experts in the field, but also the interaction with young scientists from all over the world was a great experience. The important thing is that these days were not only educational but fun at the same time. I highly recommend it to anyone who is interested in PID."

Papatesta Eleni-Maria, Greece

"An experience of a lifetime! Surely, worth the long wait since 2020 thanks to COVID-19. The faculty were really inspiring on every level and approachable. Equally were junior colleagues. Interesting cases, enriching discussions and exchange of experience across centres.

Great networking opportunity seeding connections with the faculty and juniors around the globe.

All in a relaxed atmosphere with lots of fun overlooking the Aegean sea beauty.

A great nucleus for improving the care of our patients and the future of PID.

I can't thank the educational party, junior working party, faculty and ESID executive enough!"

Hadeil Morsi, UK

*"If you get the opportunity to go to an ESID Summer School – grab it with both hands and don't let go!
Fabulous fun, incredibly educational, inclusive, friendly and thought-provoking. But above all, inspiring!"*

Prof Emma C Morris, UK

"ESID summer school is a very good chance for everyone in the immunology field. Increasing your network all around the world, meet the experts of the field and refreshing your knowledge is a very good opportunity for us. Thanks to everyone for this wonderful organisation."
